Help us shape our research

Pilgrims Hospices want to hear from patients, their families and the wider public to help develop and deliver research.

This means doing research 'with' patients, their carers and the public so that they are not just participants. Involving patients and the public in the decisions helps researchers develop methods that are most effective and relevant for patients and their families.

How could you become involved?

You could support us with:

- Developing new research ideas
- Design and management of the research
- Carrying out research
- Communicating our findings to patients, their families and the wider public
- Commenting on documents

The amount and type of involvement is up to you! Your expenses will be covered.

You do not have to have any previous experience of research, but it would be useful to know about any skills or experience.

If you would like to be involved or just want to find out more, please contact:
